She arrived at the event in a more muted ensemble, going for an all-white number that still flaunted her incredible hour-glass figure.

This time, she went for a low-cut crop top and low-rise cargo pants, once again making her fit body the focus of the evening.

She covered up her toned arms with a blue and white cloud print blouse, and had on a pair of crystal-encrusted heels displaying her fresh pedicure.

It was hard to miss her incredibly done nails, which were painted in a light pink with a crystal added to each finger.
