March 3, 2023 (Los Angeles, CA)– Returning with a bang, WHOKILLEDXIX are back with an infectious new single entitled “H4LO” today. Listen HERE and watch HERE via Masked Records/Warner Records.

Speaking to their overarching vision, the disruptive dynamic duo—Karm The Tool and Yung Skayda—once again not only wrote and produced the song themselves, but they also mixed and mastered it. In addition, they handled both the artwork and creation of the video, presenting a raw, unfiltered vision. On the track, they return to their signature glitch-heavy style and unload a barrage of heavily distorted sounds and pitched raps woven into their thumping production.

“H4LO” arrives on the heels of their arresting major label debut album PULLBACK that arrived last year and established the band as a multi-faceted force to be reckoned with. Listen HERE. To date, WHOKILLEDXIX have amassed a quarter-of-a-billion streams and 50 million-plus views. Plus, they have received praise from Rolling Stone, The FADER, Interview Magazine, UPROXX, Revolver Magazine, Lyrical Lemonade, Alternative Press, and more.

ABOUT WHOKILLEDXIX:

The punk spirit is alive and well in WHOKILLEDXIX. The Central Connecticut duo, comprised of Yung Skyda and Karm the Tool, began their musical journey in high school playing metal and punk in cramped clubs, and that energy has remained as they've tackled one genre after another. Their songs are like Russian nesting dolls, containing an entire album's worth of sounds in one roller coaster drop of a track. It has taken some fans a minute to catch up with the warp-speed development of WHOKILLEDXIX, but no matter how different each song sounds, the unpredictability remains constant.
