

EBONY

<https://www.ebony.com/ebony-weekend-playlist-new-music-from-dreezy-bryson-tiller-schoolboy-q-more/>

“Forest Claudette’s unique perspective and artistic expression shine through, captivating listeners with their soulful sound and boundary-pushing creativity.” - EBONY

Welcome to the weekend! Join us for the newest EBONY Weekend Playlist, featuring the freshest releases from New Music Friday that are making waves across the board. Whether you're on the road or deep in conversation, these tracks are guaranteed to set the tone for an unforgettable weekend. As we celebrate and elevate during Black History Month, be sure to tune in and soak up these vibes. Let's make this weekend one for the books!

Dreezy makes a powerful comeback with her latest single, leaving no doubts about her intentions. With raw lyrics, she declares she's not entertaining any thoughts of reconciliation with her ex, making her stance clear for all to hear. Bryson Tiller has been making waves on SoundCloud with his recent releases, but now he's back with a new single for the first time since dropping "Outside" in 2022. This exciting news could signal the imminent arrival of a new album from the R&B sensation. Schoolboy Q's return is highly anticipated, marking his first album release since CrasH Talk in 2019. The announcement of his upcoming album, Blue Lips, set to drop on March 1st, has sent fans into a frenzy.

FOREST CLAUDETTE "KOBE BEEF"

Forest Claudette is bringing a fresh wave of ALT-R&B vibes with their latest single, showcasing a blend of creativity and magnetism that transcends gender norms. As a non-binary artist, Forest Claudette's unique perspective and artistic expression shine through, captivating listeners with their soulful sound and boundary-pushing creativity. This new single is just the beginning of what promises to be an exciting journey into the depths of their musical talent.